Summary

- BVB indexes finished in the red yesterday in line with most European major indexes and more than half of liquidity was made by 11 deals; sentiment is up today after the Chinese central bank pushed more funds into the financial system;
- The Treasury sold 5Y bonds at 4.15% compared to 4.9% in the beginning of December. Demand was good and total bids mounted to RON 1.9 bn.

BVB indexes ended in the red yesterday on a total equities' turnover of EUR 7.5 mn, of which more than half was made by 11 trades with 7 stocks. In Europe, major indexes finished mostly in the negative territory as well, after a surprise loss announced by Deutsche Bank but today the sentiment is more positive, after the Chinese central bank pushed more funds into the financial system.

The Treasury sold more than the planned amount in 5Y bonds, RON 714 mn at an average accepted yield of 4.15%, significantly lower than the one at the previous similar tender in the beginning of December which was 4.9%. Demand for the bonds was high as well, total bids mounting to RON 1.9 bn. The yield curve continued to shift down and 3Y-5Y bonds lost 5-8 bps yesterday.

The leu was almost unchanged and the EUR/RON is trading above 4.53 this morning. The perspective of more easing is not supportive in the short term. Although money market rates edged slightly up yesterday, the new reserve period will benefit from the lower reserves ratio and for the moment more liquidity will flow into the market, adding to the current excess.
