Summary

- Advanced markets' major stock indices closed mixed yesterday; Europe's key benchmarks climbed higher, but their American and Asian peers finished in the red.
- According to the European Court of Justice, the ECB's OMT programme complies with EU law if certain conditions are met.
- The dollar's continued firming led the EUR/USD around 1.176 this morning.

Developed markets' major stock indices closed mixed on Tuesday. Europe's benchmarks closed higher, while those of America and Asia saw losses.

Following Alcoa's favourable earnings report, US indices opened on a positive note but lost impetus later in the day, and sank slightly, 0.1-0.3% into the red. Beating expectations, the aluminium manufacturer's Q4 net profit totalled USD 268 million (whereas it operated in the red a year earlier), and revenues jumped 14% higher since year. Its earnings per share, without one-off items, amounted to 33 cents, wrong-footing forecasts of 28 cents. Moreover, the management expects global demand for aluminium to soar 7% this year.

The dollar's firming versus the euro continued; the EUR/USD is trading around 1.176.

The European Court of Justice published its interim ruling this morning, concluding that the European Central Bank's OMT (Outright Monetary Transaction) programme, which includes government bond purchases, complies with EU laws, at least if certain conditions are met. This ruling conflicts with the opinion of Germany's constitutional law experts and may serve as an argument in support of quantitative easing in next Thursday's meeting of the ECB.
