Summary

- In line with the CEE region's other currencies, the RON moderately weakened compared to the common European currency.
- Amid the unfavourable market conditions, the Treasury rejected all of the bids at yesterday's auction.
- The NBR injected almost RON 1.6 bn liquidity via a repo operation.
- Net wages increased 7.4% YoY in May, up from 7.0% in April.
- In May, industry's turnover index went down 2.0% YoY.
- The BVB indices gave up between 0.5% and 0.7% yesterday.

The result of the Greek referendum left its mark on Monday's trading session. Accordingly, the EUR fell close to 1.10 against the dollar, while the pair was traded around 1.11 late Friday. At the same time, the RON and its peers in the CEE region also weakened somewhat compared to the 19-nation shared currency, however the movements were not unusually high. Regarding Greece, the EU's top leaders meet today in order to discuss the situation in the light of Sunday's referendum.

Government securities' yields rose by 1-6 bps with higher movements at the long end. Simultaneously, all bids were rejected at yesterday's bond auction. The Treasury initially planned to sell RON 300 mn debt, but due to the unfavourable market conditions it decided to not to accept any offer, as it also holds a comfortable liquidity buffer.

On Monday, Romania's Central Bank held a repo operation too, injecting RON 1.558 mn into the market up from RON 1.334 mn a week earlier.

In May, net wages' growth accelerated to 7.4% YoY, up from April's 7.0% YoY, while in real terms, wages added 6.1%. The positive trend should support household's consumption further, maintaining robust GDP figures in Q2 2015 as well. At the same time, the National Institute of Statistics also published its second GDP estimate for the first quarter of 2015, confirming the 4.3% YoY growth (gross data).

On the other hand, the turnover index of industry slipped 2.0% YoY in May, more than in April (-0.6% YoY), while new orders also fell slightly into the negative territory (-0.1% YoY), after strong data in April (+4.3% YoY).

European stocks ended the day in the red zone, sending the CAC40 2.0% lower, while the DAX lost 1.5% and London's FTSE100 also dropped 0.8%. Romanian equities fared somewhat better, as the main indices slipped between 0.5% and 0.7% respectively on low volumes (RON 23 mn).
