Global Daily Report

GLOBAL DAILY REPORT - 21 JULY 2017

Summary

- The ECB struck a cautious note in its post-meeting press release.
- On currency markets, the EUR excelled on Thursday.

Thursday's most important event, the rate-setting meeting of the ECB's Governing Council, left both the benchmark lending rate (at 0%), and the deposit rate (-0.4%) on hold, in sync with expectations. At the subsequent press conference Mario Draghi said that the details on tapering the asset purchase programme were not discussed at this point and it is unlikely to happen before autumn. The ECB's President also touched upon the subdued inflationary pressure, pointing out that, before embarking on tightening measures, the Bank would make sure the CPI returns to the 2% target.

Despite the cautious wording of the press conference, the euro advanced 1.0% against the greenback (EUR/USD: 1.16). The DAX and the CAC40 edged down; while Britain's FTSE100 upped 0.8% in Thursday's trading.

Bloomberg's report on special counsel Robert Mueller's plan to extend his probe to Donald Trump's business dealings did not ruffle US markets. The NASDAQ (+0.1%), the only major index to end with gain as opposed to the small losses of its peers, closed at a record high yesterday. In the corporate world, the Q2 earnings figures of Alcoa, American Express, Johnson & Johnson and Unilever all cheered investors; the latter's share price rose the steepest (+1.7%) in this group.

The Brent and the WTI dropped 0.4%; Brent traded at 49.3 USD/barrel.

In this morning's unenthusiastic trading in Asia, the major indices closed 0.2-0.3% in the red.

In the absence of important macroeconomic data, the earnings season may be of interest today. One of the companies to publish its Q2 financial figures is General Electric.
